KENNER WINTER WEATHER ADVISORY: CHANCE FOR FREEZING PRECIPITATION THROUGH TONIGHT, WARMER WEATHER SATURDAY

Kenner, LA. - A chance of light freezing rain and sleet remains in the forecast for Kenner and the rest of the metropolitan area through this evening, but forecasters say warmer conditions will be in force on Saturday.

Friday night will be cold, with lows in the upper 20s and low 30s. However, the high on Saturday is expected in the mid-50s and into the 60s by Sunday, according to forecasters. A chance of rain remains in the forecast on Saturday.

Motorists should use extreme caution on any exposed metal surfaces, including elevated roadways, bridges and overpasses Friday night and very early Saturday.

As of 3 p.m., there were no road closures anywhere in the metropolitan New Orleans area, according to the state Department of Transportation and Development. If you will be driving outside of the metro area tonight, check for real time highway closures at <http://www.lsp.org/roadclosure.html>.
